

1	Can you think why some people use Lent to positively do something good, rather than give something up?
2	Why would doing without something you want, make you stronger?
3	Why would non-Christians also give something up for lent?